

In Search Of Clues...

“Using Music in Your Classroom So That Your Students ‘Stay in Tune’ Throughout the Day”

...Solving the Mysteries of Serving Young Children with Developmental Disabilities in Child Care Community Settings

This FREE workshop is designed for community childcare staff, parents and other service providers working with young children.

- * Explore a variety of ways that students and teachers can experience music
- * Learn strategies to integrate music into your classroom
- * Discover the “hidden” benefits of music that promote educational concepts, positive social interactions, motor skill development, social/emotional development and language/communication
- * Be informed of the advantages of group vs. individual music sessions
- * Understand the difference between Music Education and Music Therapy
- * Find out how music therapy is beneficial to not only children with special needs, but for all children- all for the same reasons

This workshop will involve demonstrations, audience participation and video clips that will inspire you to use music within your classroom for positive results!

This workshop meets the OCFS training requirements of: Principles of Childhood Development, Child Day Care Program Development

WHEN: February 5, 2015
7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.
WHERE: Temple Beth Zion Play and Learn School
700 Sweet Home Road
Amherst, New York 14226

GUEST SPEAKER:

Corie Barkey, Music Therapist, Baker Victory Early Childhood Program

A question and answer session will follow the presentation.

This FREE workshop is made possible by the collaboration between the Early Childhood Inclusion Committee of the Developmental Disabilities Alliance of WNY, and the Early Childhood Direction Center.

To register for the workshop or for more information, please call:

Early Childhood Direction Center
880-3875

OR

Kathy Coe
819-2408

or email ecdc@kaleidahealth.org

Erie County Medical Center

When registering, please give your name and phone number and number of attendees in case we need to contact you.

Each center attending will receive a FREE copy of “Working with Young Children with Special Needs: A Resource Directory”, a guide to the systems and service linkages available in our community.

Please feel free to duplicate this announcement for distribution to parents and staff.

This training is made possible through funding from the Developmental Disabilities Alliance of Western New York (DDAWNY) and Kaleida Health